HOW IT WORKS

The Vox Enterprise Solution is a convenient and simple to use tour operator system. It combines CMS, operations and reporting software (WAVE) with a sophisticated online distribution, sales and booking platform (GLOBOL). These are linked to a ticket validation tool (WAVESCAN) and end user destination smartphone applications (POPGUIDE).

The solution allows multi-user, multi-level backend interaction, while web access allows it to function on any device. You can take bookings and payments from your website or via local resellers. Your customers can select their tour and pick a suitable date and time, based on real-time availability. They can pay you online.

The system automatically manages customer, supplier and internal communication, administration, reconciliation and reporting.
